

The Belmont Citizen Herald, the Council on Aging, the Belmont Public Library, the Historical Society &
the Belmont Media Center present

Belmont Story Project KICKOFF

Belmont Public Library March 31st 3:00PM

Kate Ellis
America RadioWorks

Help build a collection of Belmont resident memories! Get ready to participate in the Belmont Story Project, in which residents are encouraged to share their personal stories or interview a friend, family member, or co-worker about an experience that is important to them. Award-winning public radio producers Mitch Hanley and Kate Ellis, joined by Belmont Citizen-Herald editor Joanna Tzouvelis, will talk about the importance of oral histories, provide suggestions on how to conduct a good interview, and give examples from their work. To hear stories from other communities, visit StoryCorps.org. For more information about the Belmont Story Project, email jtzouvelis@wickedlocal.com or call the Library reference desk at 617-993-2870.

Mitch Hanley
Us & Them Podcast

The Belmont Public Library Reads Anita Diamant's The Boston Girl

